

This Onsen Cream made from hot spring water springing out from 1500m below the ground of Mt. Fuji, which is a world heritage. This is particular all-in-one; 80% if that is hot spring water without purified water and remaining 20% is beauty ingredients. Upon application to your skin, the hot spring water comes out and smoothly penetrates into your skin; the contained moisturizing ingredients make a coating on your skin surface. After applying the cream, it makes your skin very moist, sleek and translucent just like after taking a hot spring bath.

The high alkaline hot spring water of pH 9.7 contains a lot of minerals equal to vegetables and mushrooms. Also it include a lot of silicon (36.6 ml/L) and fluorine (0.48 mg/L), various effects such as the growth activation of moisture of the skin, hair and the nail, collagen generation, immunocytic activation are expected.

I take an appropriate amount and application in the whole face after face-wash in morning and evening. Then be familiar with skin carefully and infiltrate it because hot spring water overflows. When you are worried about drying, better to repeat twice without increasing quantity. You can expect a humidity retention effect more.
